Orlando Couple donates $2000 of Sensory Auditory Equipment to Palm Lake Elementary through FuelMySchool Wish Program.

ORLANDO, Wednesday, January 26, 2011 — Over $2000 worth of sensory auditory equipment has been donated to Palm Lake Elementary thanks to the generous online donation made by local Orlando couple, Rob and Tracy Lattanzi via www.FuelMySchool.com.

Palm Lake Elementary School located in Orlando, Fl., is registered with FuelMySchool, a non-profit organization where the community and beyond come together virtually to help fulfill the needs of students and schools. FuelMySchool offers free online support programs to schools including: MySchoolWish, Shop4Schools, Cars4Schools and Cash4Schools. Through the MySchoolWish program, it was easy for the Orlando couple to access and grant a wish from Palm Lake's MySchoolWish list.

"We are thrilled to be able to provide Palm Lake Elementary with the sensory auditory equipment for their ASD program," said Tracy Lattanzi. "Through the FuelMySchool website, we were able to easily find out what Palm Lake needed, fulfill it and make a difference all within a click of a button!"

"Being able to connect school needs to people in the community is exactly what FuelMySchool is about. This is the one place where virtually anyone can help our schools through the free online programs that are available," says Lisa Hilgenfeldt, Co-Founder of FuelMySchool.com. "At FuelMySchool, all school supporters have the opportunity to be a part of enriching our school programs and feel good about making a difference."
